OFFICE JURISDICTION

PLANNED SHIFT

1. Summary of Mismatch

An audit has been conducted regarding the false-positive alert triggered by the Orbit check-in reminder bot. Although the employee's mobile interface confirmed that she checked in at 8:19 AM local time, an automated reminder was dispatched to her at 9:30 AM GST (8:30 AM Lebanon time) stating she had not checked in yet.

The audit of cell history and background sync logs indicates that the check-in occurred on time locally but was stored in the device's local queue. The data did not synchronize to the AppSheet cloud database until 10:36 AM local time, resulting in a 2-hour, 17-minute synchronization lag.

2. Chronological Log (EEST / UTC+3)

08:19:31 AM

Local Clock-In Performed

The employee logs a check-in on the Orbit app. The event timestamp is recorded locally as 05:19:31 UTC. The database write remains queued on the device due to background sync configuration.

08:30:00 AM (9:30 AM GST)

Bot Evaluation & False Reminder Sent

The AppSheet scheduler evaluates attendance on the server. Since the local clock-in is not synced, the server reads the check-in cell as blank. With lateness evaluated at 60 minutes (exceeding the 15-minute trigger), the server fires the reminder email.

10:36:05 AM

Device Background Sync Execution

A polling-initiated background sync executes on the device, uploading the queued check-in data to the AppSheet cloud server.

10:59:00 AM (12:59 PM IST)

Spreadsheet Key Written

The transaction is processed and written to the master Google Sheet database (recorded under column Check_In as 08/07/2026 05:19:31 UTC).
